ABSTRACT

Material sourcing is an important function in any manufacturing company since they need to source for inventory such as raw materials for production and others such as machinery and parts that are used to aid in the production process. This objective of this study is to find out how material sourcing enhances the profitability of Joy millers limited. For that to be made possible, the researcher will analyze the material sourcing process in Joy millers limited and come up with conclusions from the finding and give a recommendation based on the same.
